

Create a file called hello.1 (name.section)

These are the contents of the file.

```
.\"
.\" These are
.\" Man page
.\" comments.
.\" They will not
.\" in the display
.\"
.\" Last Change: November 29, 2001
.\"
.\"
.TH HELLO 1 "NOVEMBER 2001" Linux "User Manual"
.SH NAME
hello \- prints "Hello World" on the screen
.SH SYNOPSIS
.B hello
.SH DESCRIPTION
.B hello
will print "Hello World" on the screen.  There are no options for this program.
.SH OPTIONS
.IP -none-
There are no options.
.SH FILES
.I -none-
.RS
There are no files required.
.SH BUGS
There are no bugs in my program.
.SH AUTHOR
Michael Chua <mike@admu.edu.ph>
.SH "SEE ALSO"
There is nothing else to see.
```

To test if the man page works:

man ./hello.1